Unlike the IELTS exam, the International ESOL exam is a level-specific exam, meaning that the exam will be tailored towards a student's level. The exam covers all four key language skills, including reading, writing, speaking, and listening.

The exam can be taken online or in person at MC Academy.

The speaking part of the exam is more conversational as opposed to a direct assessment of spoken language ability.

The International ESOL exam is recognised by 80% of universities globally as proof of English language level.

The Secure English Language Test (SELT) is a Home Office approved English language test that focuses on all four areas of language development. The Exam is designed at the appropriate level for meeting minimum UKVI requirements by visa type.

Tests real-life language. The exam covers either two or four key language skills depending on visa requirements.

Targets specific skills needed for language development.

The exam can be taken online or in person at MC Academy.

The SELT exam is recognised by more than 90% of UK universities as a requirement for English language level.
